

Job 40

Englische King James Version von 1611/1769 mit Strongs

1 Moreover the LORD^{H3068} answered^{H6030} Job^{H347}, and said^{H559}, 2 Shall he that contendeth^{H7378} with the Almighty^{H7706} instruct^{H3250} him? he that reproveth^{H3198} God^{H433}, let him answer^{H6030} it. 3 Then Job^{H347} answered^{H6030} the LORD^{H3068}, and said^{H559}, 4 Behold, I am vile^{H7043}; what shall I answer^{H7725} thee? I will lay^{H7760} mine hand^{H3027} upon^{H3926} my mouth^{H6310}. 5 Once^{H259} have I spoken^{H1696}; but I will not answer^{H6030}: yea, twice^{H8147}; but I will proceed no further^{H3254}.

6 Then answered^{H6030} the LORD^{H3068} unto Job^{H347} out of the whirlwind^{H5591}, and said^{H559}, 7 Gird up^{H247} thy loins^{H2504} now like a man^{H1397}: I will demand^{H7592} of thee, and declare^{H3045} thou unto me. 8 Wilt thou also disannul^{H6565} my judgment^{H4941}? wilt thou condemn^{H7561} me, that thou mayest be righteous^{H6663}? 9 Hast thou an arm^{H2220} like God^{H410}? or canst thou thunder^{H7481} with a voice^{H6963} like him? 10 Deck^{H5710} thyself now with majesty^{H1347} and excellency^{H1363}, and array^{H3847} thyself with glory^{H1935} and beauty^{H1926}. 11 Cast abroad^{H6327} the rage^{H5678} of thy wrath^{H639}: and behold^{H7200} every one that is proud^{H1343}, and abase^{H8213} him. 12 Look^{H7200} on every one that is proud^{H1343}, and bring him low^{H3665}; and tread down^{H1915} the wicked^{H7563} in their place. 13 Hide^{H2934} them in the dust^{H6083} together^{H3162}, and bind^{H2280} their faces^{H6440} in secret^{H2934}. 14 Then will I also confess^{H3034} unto thee that thine own right hand^{H3225} can save^{H3467} thee.

15 Behold now behemoth^{H930}, which I made^{H6213} with thee; he eateth^{H398} grass^{H2682} as an ox^{H1241}. 16 Lo now, his strength^{H3581} is in his loins^{H4975}, and his force^{H202} is in the navel^{H8306} of his belly^{H990}. 17 He moveth^{H2654} his tail^{H2180} like a cedar^{H730}: the sinews^{H1517} of his stones^{H6344} are wrapped together^{H8276}. 18 His bones^{H6106} are as strong^{H650} pieces of brass^{H5154}, his bones^{H1634} are like bars^{H4300} of iron^{H1270}. 19 He is the chief^{H7225} of the ways^{H1870} of God^{H410}: he that made^{H6213} him can make^{H5066} his sword^{H2719} to approach^{H5066} unto him. 20 Surely the mountains^{H2022} bring him forth^{H5375} food^{H944}, where all the beasts^{H2416} of the field^{H7704} play^{H7832}. 21 He lieth^{H7901} under the shady trees^{H6628}, in the covert^{H5643} of the reed^{H7070}, and fens^{H1207}. 22 The shady trees^{H6628} cover^{H5526} him with their shadow^{H6752}; the willows^{H6155} of the brook^{H5158} compass him about^{H5437}. 23 Behold, he drinketh up^{H6231} a river^{H5104}, and hasteth^{H2648} not: he trusteth^{H982} that he can draw up^{H1518} Jordan^{H3383} into his mouth^{H6310}. 24 He taketh^{H3947} it with his eyes^{H5869}: his nose^{H639} pierceth through^{H5344} snares^{H4170}.
