Jonah 4

Englische King James Version von 1611/1769 mit Strongs

1 But it displeased[H3415] Jonah[H3124] exceedingly[H1419 H7451], and he was very angry[H2734]. 2 And he prayed[H6419] unto the LORD[H3068], and said[H559], I pray[H577] thee, O LORD[H3068], was not this my saying[H1697], when I was yet in my country[H127]? Therefore I fled[H1272] before[H6923] unto Tarshish[H8659]: for I knew[H3045] that thou art a gracious[H2587] God[H410], and merciful[H7349], slow[H750] to anger[H639], and of great[H7227] kindness[H2617], and repentest[H5162] thee of the evil[H7451]. 3 Therefore now, O LORD[H3068], take[H3947], I beseech thee, my life[H5315] from me; for it is better[H2896] for me to die[H4194] than to live[H2416]. 4 Then said[H559] the LORD[H3068], Doest thou well[H3190] to be angry[H2734]?[1]

5 So Jonah[H3124] went out[H3318] of the city[H5892], and sat[H3427] on the east side[H6924] of the city[H5892], and there made[H6213] him a booth[H5521], and sat[H3427] under it in the shadow[H6738], till he might see[H7200] what would become of the city[H5892]. 6 And the LORD[H3068] God[H430] prepared[H4487] a gourd[H7021], and made it to come up[H5927] over Jonah[H3124], that it might be a shadow[H6738] over his head[H7218], to deliver[H5337] him from his grief[H7451]. So Jonah[H3124] was exceeding[H1419 H8057] glad[H8055] of the gourd[H7021].[2][3] 7 But God[H430] prepared[H4487] a worm[H8438] when the morning[H7837] rose[H5927] the next day[H4283], and it smote[H5221] the gourd[H7021] that it withered[H3001]. 8 And it came to pass, when the sun[H8121] did arise[H2224], that God[H430] prepared[H4487] a vehement[H2759] east[H6921] wind[H7307]; and the sun[H8121] beat[H5221] upon the head[H7218] of Jonah[H3124], that he fainted[H5968], and wished[H7592] in himself[H5315] to die[H4191], and said[H559], It is better[H2896] for me to die[H4194] than to live[H2416].[4] 9 And God[H430] said[H559] to Jonah[H3124], Doest thou well[H3190] to be angry[H2734] for the gourd[H7021]? And he said[H559], I do well[H3190] to be angry[H2734], even unto death[H4194].[5][6] 10 Then said[H559] the LORD[H3068], Thou hast had pity[H2347] on the gourd[H7021], for the which thou hast not laboured[H5998], neither madest it grow[H1431]; which came up in a night[H1121 H3915], and perished[H6] in a night[H1121 H3915]:[7][8] 11 And should not I spare[H2347] Nineveh[H5210], that great[H1419] city[H5892], wherein are[H3426] more[H7235] than sixscore[H8147 H6240] thousand[H7239] persons[H120] that cannot discern[H3045] between their right hand[H3225] and their left hand[H8040]; and also much[H7227] cattle[H929]?
